

JESUS IS

EXTRAVAGANT IN GENEROSITY

“Is it worth it?”

Then the mother of Zebedee's sons came to Jesus with her sons and, kneeling down, asked a favor of him.

“What is it you want?” he asked.

She said, “Grant that one of these two sons of mine may sit at your right and the other at your left in your kingdom.”

Matt. 20: 20-21

“Was it worth it?”

“Will it be worth it?”

“So the last will be first, and the first will be last.”

Matt. 19: 30

How the mercies of God guard your heart
when you wonder
if it is worth it

“Surely God is good to Israel,
to those who are pure in heart.
But as for me, my feet had almost slipped;
I had nearly lost my foothold.
For I envied the arrogant
when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.”

Ps. 73:1-3

How the mercies of God guard your heart
when you wonder
if it is worth it

“So the last will be first, and the first will be last.”

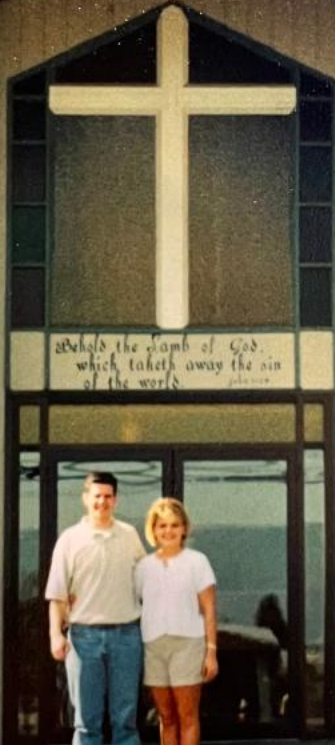

Matt. 19: 30

The gift of the family of God is that it strengthens our faith when the hard times come in following Jesus.

Behold the Lamb of God,
which takes away the sin
of the world.

How the mercies of God guard your heart
when you wonder
if it is worth it

God calls sinners, not the
not the self-sufficient.

God pursues with great compassion those who need mercy.

God is rich in generosity
towards us.

Eternal life is offered to all,
even to the very end.

God's justice and mercy
are never contradictory.

God does not treat us as we deserve, and that is a good thing.

God will always keep His promises to us, but He will never be indebted to us.

God loves when those who have little hope experience life changing mercies!

So what does, “the last will be first, and the first will be last” mean?

Those who live in humble trust, knowing that each day is a gift of Divine mercy

To whom does God extend His Mercy?

To those who ask for it.

To those who give mercy
to others.

To those who don't abuse it.

How do the mercies of God guard your heart
when you wonder
if it is worth it?

God is perfectly just,
extravagantly generous,
and wonderfully merciful.
